MEN WHO PROFIT BY WAR. A dispatch from Washington says: "To hear these fellow talk, you'd think war was coming in fourteen minutes!"

A republican statesman in the confi ence of President McKinley nodded toward a group in the Riggs House Sunday afternoon and uttered this remark in snappy tones. The group was made up of industrious and energetic citizens who are here to sell Uncle Sam anything from a ship to a gimlet. For a number of weeks Washington has been besieged by these people. They are arriving by every train. It is believed that the week at hand is to be the most exciting one in Washington in thirty The enterprising citizens with things to sell to the government tumble over each other in the corridors of the hotels. They jostle statesmen at the Arlington, Shoreham, Chamberlin's and Willard's, and infest the Navy and War Departments. Contractors, camp followers, and sutiers are everywhere In numbers they are like brigadier generals after the war. The capital of some is represented by a hundred-dollar bill. Behind others there are mil-Up to date only the hotels have been benefited. All landlords are serene and placid. They look comfortable. There isn't a furrowed brow in the lot. The enterprising and industrious citizens with ships and cosl mines and pork to sell to the govern ment are expectant. At times they are anxious. This is when a piece wave is over Washington. This is in variably followed by a wer wave, and then the enterprising and industrious ones are almost as calm and wholesome-looking as the landlords. Not quite, of course, but pretty nearly so. The landlords are sure winers now. The other fellows are still bothered by hopes. It is all very interesting those not familiar with the excellent rules of commerce and trade.

One group of energetic citizens is almost violently assertive that, should occasion require, it can contract to furnish our army and navy with the meatiest and fattest pork ever slaughtered. Another group, while pernaps not so violent, is nevertheless equally positive in its assertions that, in the event of a brush with the Dons, it can provide the government with the sturdiest flour, cornmeal, and oats ever milled or grown. So it goes on all day long from early morning to far into the night. Incidentally more or less grog is drunk. Sometimes it is hot apple toddy, at others it is cold apple toddy. Some of the gentlemen who are here to aid the government, in the event of war, prefer sin slings, and not a few are partial to brandy smashes. There is a sort of patriotism, though among the majority, and they stick to good old American rye. It may not be uninteresting to give in detail a few of the commodities and products, other than ships and coal mines and provisions and gimlets, the energetic citizens would like to sell to the government shou'd hostilities break out. Here they are: Boots and shoes, anchors, awls, shoestrings, horses, mules, wagons and wagon wheels, tents, knives and forks, spoons, kettles, stoves, lanterns, tin cups and cans, blankets, flannel, liniments, soap, cloth for naval and military uniforms, revolvers, alcohol, coffee, condensed milk, hardtack, rope and twine, shovels, picks and axes. And not a few folks are here who have for sale projectiles, torpedoes and arms and ammunition of the most destructive and deadly charac ter. On week days the Senate and House restaurants are thronged with the representatives of manufacturers and other business men of all degrees and station, foreign and home bred. They represent, more than anything else, the tireless energy incident to CONFECTIONER AND FRUIT DEALER business competition and the almost limitless resources of the United States.
